

Traffic Plan

Update on progress towards resolving parking issues around Menheniot Primary School.

At a public meeting of the parish council held on 21 September 2017, the Chair of the council . . .

Cllr Tucker reported that he had met with the head teacher of the school and the chair of the governors to move the project forward. Previous proposals to use the road leading up from the school to the tennis club as a parking area were on hold pending clarification of a safety order in place that prevents the gateway to the club being open during school hours. This is a condition that Cornwall Council imposed in 1995, and until it can be renegotiated or rescinded, access for cars cannot be permitted during this time. Once this has been resolved, the council intends to have a trial period during which traffic cones and temporary signage will mark out the extra parking spaces on the road. A decision on the outcome of the trial will be made later in the year.

The head teacher of Menheniot School has written to Cornwall Council asking them to review the safety order: at the time of writing, no reply has yet been received.
